Kennedy's audience was formally polite at the outset, applauding at what he must have considered the wrong places. His references to federal penny-pinching rather than his arguments for lower taxes.

The atmosphere changed dramatically, however, as the President moved into a 30-minute question and answer session following his address. At this

4 in Family Die When Fire Razes Home

Post-Crescent News Service

KESHENA — Four members of a Menominee Indian family died early today in a fire that destroyed their log home.

Dead are:

Herman Kasig, 46, who was employed as a lumber inspector for Menominee Enterprises, Inc.

His wife, Helen, 36.

Their daughters, Garnett, 13, and Gaynell, 7.

The bodies of the four victims were found in their beds on the second story of the burned out residence. Apparently they were asphyxiated.

Neighbors, however, reported that Kasig had complained earlier in the week that his space heater was not working properly.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist, Joe Deer, Jr., who spotted the smoke and flames coming from the building about 4 a. m. today.

The family, which lived in the log home through the summer, was planning to move next week into a new home in Keshena.

Two other children in the Kasig family, who did not spend Friday night at home, survive.

Racial Troubles Blamed

Alabama Negro Church Bombed as Children Practice Christmas Play

BY ROSS M. HAGEN
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Twenty-five children practicing for a Christmas play in a Negro church basement escaped injury when a homemade bomb damaged the church and wrecked two nearby homes.

The shattering blast Friday night was blamed on racial troubles by a trustee of the church who is active in an integrationist group.

Extensive Debris
The basement of the Bethel Baptist Church was showered with broken glass and plaster. The main floor of the church was littered with broken stained glass windows and shattered paintings. The walls were cracked.

The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, Negro leader of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, formerly was pastor of the church.

Only one person was reported hurt—a 7-month-old granddaughter of a Negro who is active in the Shuttlesworth's organization.

This is the third time within the past six years that the Bethel Church has been bombed. The last church bombings in Birmingham occurred Jan. 16 when three Negro churches, including the Bethel church, were hit.

The persons responsible for the bombings were never caught, but Police Commissioner Eugene Connor said they were Negroes.

Shuttlesworth's successor, the Rev. V. C. Provitt, occupies one of the houses wrecked by the latest blast. The other is owned by a trustee of the church, James R. Rives.

Rives said that he believed the bomb was aimed at him because of his work with the Alabama Christian Movement group.

The bomb exploded about 9:30 p.m., gouging a crater 3 feet wide and 18 inches deep in the pavement in front of the Rives house.

Rives and Provitt live across from the church. Houses flanking the church were also damaged by the blast.

Rives said his granddaughter, Kimberly Rene McWilliams, was sleeping in a bed near a window shattered by the explosion. The baby was showered with splinters of glass, but received only a minor scalp cut.

Provitt said that he was told that "a carload of white people" drove along the block just before the blast occurred.

Police said that a preliminary investigation indicated that the explosives were tossed into the street without any special target.

The blast reduced the front of Rives' house to kindling.

There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Earlier Bombings
In the past years there have been several bombings with racial overtones in Birmingham. Before the triple bombing last January: —Someone tried unsuccessfully to bomb a Negro church in 1958. —Some Negro houses were damaged by dynamite in April 1953, apparently as a result of the sale of houses to Negroes. —Shuttlesworth's home was damaged by an explosion on Christmas night 1956.

Year's Traffic Toll in State Grows to 900

Illinois Girl Dies After Automobile Crashes Into Tree

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of an Illinois girl has raised to six the number of highway fatalities in Wisconsin since Friday afternoon and boosted the state's total for the year to 900. The total a year ago today was 855.

The state's 900th traffic death was not recorded last year until Dec. 30.

Cherie Barile, 16, of Skokie, Ill., died early today after an hour after the car in which she was riding left Highway 50 on the western city limits of Lake Geneva and struck a tree.

Barry M. Laskov, 17, also of Skokie, was injured and taken to Lakeland Hospital in Elkhorst.

Beverly Gumm, 18, Kenosha, was killed late Friday night when she was struck by a car while walking on Highway 32 in Kenosha. The driver of the car did not stop.

Killed Near Madison

Charles R. Warren, 34, Greendale, Ill., was killed Friday night near Madison when the car he was driving went out of control, left an 194 overpass and dropped to Highway 30 below. Two other men in the automobile were injured.

Mrs. Orrin Robinson, 32, of Madison, was killed Friday night when her car and another automobile collided on a town road near Thorpe. She was the mother of six children.

Margaret Boardman, 55, of DeSota in Vernon County and Ella Nelson, 68, of Ferryville in Crawford County were injured fatally Friday when their car, collided with another automobile, driven by Herbert Hauser, 71, of La Crosse, 25 miles west of Viroqua.

Anti-Soviet Leaflets Thrown at U.N. Session

Signals Expected to Help in Solving Age-Old Questions In Regard to Veiled Planet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mariner 2, a miracle of U.S. space science, has given man his first close look at another planet.

For 42 minutes Friday it scanned Venus, flashing back 36 million miles the information that may unravel the secrets of the "veiled lady of the universe."

It was an incredible feat and excited scientists rejoiced.

The historic flyby came at 3 p.m. after a 109-day, 182 million-mile journey which began at a Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching pad.

At its nearest approach to Venus, the space laboratory was 21,100 miles from the planet, relatively at its doorstep.

Special monitoring devices began to probe the cloud-covered surface at 1:55 p.m. and were switched off at 2:37 p.m.

Then the craft was heading toward the sun, after having come closer to a planet than any other space vehicle.

Mariner is expected to send periodic information about interplanetary space from as far out as 72 million miles from the earth. That's twice the distance it was from earth Friday after a long journey plagued by frequent troubles and even cliff-hanging doubts on the final dash.

The spacecraft's final destination will be an orbit around the sun, each lap taking 400 days, never coming closer than 40 million miles from the earth.

It will take days and possibly weeks for scientists to analyze and evaluate just what was found

Red Chinese Attack Hits at Khrushchev

Charges 'Capitulationism' in Yielding to U. S. on Cuba

BY JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Red China said today its split with Moscow was worsening and accused Soviet Premier Khrushchev of the new Marxist crime of "capitulationism"—that is, giving in to the United States.

The Chinese leadership, in a 6,500-word policy statement spread out in the official Peking People's Daily, raked the Soviet Union for an "utterly outrageous" anti-Chinese campaign and revealed that it had proposed a meeting of all the world's Communist parties to try to heal the breach.

Khrushchev's sharp criticism of China before the Soviet parliament Wednesday, however, seemed to indicate that the door to reconciliation would be hard to open.

Defends Border War

The Chinese statement heaped scorn on Khrushchev's new-found friendship for "that renegade to communism," President Tito of Yugoslavia, and it defended China's border war with India.

Tito, visiting Moscow at Khrushchev's invitation, told the Soviet parliament Wednesday that Soviet and Yugoslav points of view "on all major international questions coincide or are close to each other."

The Chinese struck back at attacks leveled in the recently ended Bulgarian, Czechoslovak, Hungarian and Italian party congresses, and admitted that its efforts had "failed to prevent the worsening of the situation."

Wide Search for Jet Interceptor; 6 Men Missing

STEWART AIR FORCE BASE, N.Y. (AP)—The Air Force has launched a vast search for an Air Force jet interceptor, which crashed in Greenland 700 miles north of the Arctic Circle Friday, and a rescue helicopter that disappeared while searching for the jet.

Six men were missing. The Air Force declined to disclose names for the time being.

The F102 jet was attached to the 333rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. It was on a routine flight out of Thule Air Force Base when it went down about 25 miles southeast of the base. Only the pilot was aboard.

An H43 rescue helicopter with five men left the base and failed to return.

NATO Fails To Agree on Nuclear Policy

Ministers Admit Need for Adding to Conventional Units

PARIS (AP)—The ministers of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreed today that it "was necessary to increase the effectiveness of conventional forces" of NATO—but apparently were still split over nuclear policy.

A communiqué, issued at the conclusion of three days of discussion, asserted that the "firmness and restraint of the United States, supported by the Alliance and other free nations" averted the danger of war over Cuba.

It stressed that the aim of NATO "remains what it has always been—peace, freedom and security based on the rule of the law."

Vigilance and Unity
The ministers agreed to maintain "constant vigilance and unity of purpose" and also said they remained ready to examine any reasonable possibility of reducing international tension.

"It is a prerequisite of any progress towards equitable settlement of outstanding international issues that the Alliance should maintain its defensive strength," they added.

Dealing with NATO's future defensive efforts, the communiqué said the ministers "agreed that it was necessary to increase the effectiveness of conventional forces."

"They further agreed that adequate and balanced forces, both nuclear and conventional, were necessary to provide the Alliance with the widest possible range of response to whatever threat may be directed against its security."

They recognized that a sustained effort will be required to provide and improve these forces."

Balloonists May Have Data on Air Turbulence

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE, N.M. (AP)—New information about air turbulence and stars has been brought back by two men who rode a balloon to the edge of the earth's atmosphere.

Air Force Capt. Joe W. Kittling Jr. and William C. White, civilian Navy astronomer, made the flight in an Air Force Stargazer balloon Thursday and Friday, climbing nearly 15½ miles.

Tragedy in Attempt to Land in Fog

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—An airliner, wheels down, landing lights burning, dropped from a foggy sky Friday night into a row of suburban homes. Eight persons died in flames in a black-people disaster.

Four of the dead were men aboard the Flying Tiger Lines Constellation.

A man, a woman and two teenage girls were found in the wreckage of shattered homes.

Firemen were still probing the smoking ruins early today, fearing there were more bodies. All the victims were burned and many were mutilated.

Six homes and two commercial buildings were set afire as blazing gasoline spewed from the wreckage.

Inquiry Begun

The inquiry fell in a section of the San Fernando Valley a quarter-mile from its destination, Lockheed Air Terminal, in Burbank. Among its cargo were Christmas toys from Boston. The plane, a prop-driven cargo craft, carried only one passenger—a man who hitched a ride.

The Civil Aeronautics Board launched an immediate inquiry into the crash.

Motorists and pedestrians stared in disbelief as the four-engine craft swept across busy Laurel Canyon Boulevard so low they could see the blue flame of its exhausts—as if it were making a routine landing.

"The plane was lowering in just like for a landing," said Mike Powers. "It had its landing gear and the flaps down. The landing lights were burning. I just couldn't believe it could come down there. Then the left wing dipped and the plane smashed in, nose first."

The plane clipped power lines, which whiplashed across homes and yards, trampling sparks—and plunged the neighborhood into darkness lit only by blazing homes and wreckage.

The fire was discovered at 1 a.m. by two young men driving past.

Martin's wife and their seven-month-old daughter were spending the night at the home of Mrs. Martin's parents.

The building was "a mass of flames" when firemen arrived.

Huge Increase in State Auto Thefts Noted in FBI Survey

Youths Involved in Majority of Cases; Find Law Coddles Them

BY DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—You come out of the store, laden with Christmas bundles, and you fumble out your car key and you stop at the spot where you parked your car and you think then, that maybe you've lost your mind.

The car is gone. Maybe the parking place is empty; more as well, with soaring frequency, likely there's a strange car parked there. You wonder whether you forgot where you parked, or whether maybe you didn't drive today after all. It takes a little while to realize what's happened to you.

Someone has stolen your car. This has happened to 2,180 car owners in Milwaukee this year—up until this week, with more to go—and it's happening elsewhere. The rate of car theft in Milwaukee is up 45 per cent—almost double—that of last year, when 1,499 were reported stolen.

What do you do now? Well, you tell your insurance company, but don't expect the insurance people to get excited. The odds are overwhelming that you'll get your car back, because the odds are overwhelming that a juvenile turned the ignition switch with a paper clip, or shorted the switch with tinfoil, or easist of all simply slipped into your car on a parking lot when the attendant wasn't looking and drove it away.

Just Try
(The law says you can't leave the keys in your ignition, but most parking lot attendants say you have to. Your insurance company will say that makes them financially liable, and all you have to do is collect from them. Sure it is. Just try.)

And anyway, you'll have your car back in a few hours, or a few days, or a week or two. It may have a few hundred dollars in body damage, the ignition burned out, the engine in need of a complete overhaul.

But if you left a package of cigarettes or a pair of gloves on the seat, they'll likely be there when the police recover your car. Because stealing a car is called "joy riding," but stealing a package of cigarettes is larceny.

And Wisconsin's rapidly developing cult of juvenile auto thieves is well informed on the juvenile code.

You may feel considerably relieved when a police officer calls to tell you they have your car back, and the 15-year-old, or the 12-year-old, who took it is in custody.

But don't relax too much. The same kid may steal your same car again tomorrow.

Out of Trouble
For while you can get in trouble stealing a package of cigarettes, because that's "larceny," a good number of juvenile boys has found that it's reasonably easy to stay out of serious trouble for auto theft.

Of the 834 arrests made in Milwaukee this year for this offense, only 158 involved adults. This also is about the right ratio of genuine thefts. Most of the rest involved "joy riding" by juveniles. And the juveniles averaged some thing like two or three cars each during the year. And most of them are still at liberty to steal more cars, and most of them will.

The assertion is unavoidable when the juvenile records are considered. Take nine of the faces most familiar to the Milwaukee Police Department's auto theft detail. These boys, white and non-white, from slum or fashionable neighborhood, high school or trade school, all have a few things in common: they're under 18, and they like to drive other people's automobiles.

So far this year, the nine have stolen 56 automobiles in Milwaukee. And of the nine, eight remain at liberty.

Case Histories
Juvenile No. 1—now 15, this youngster has been, by juvenile in-code euphemism, "contacted by police officers," and as a matter of reality, been arrested, 38 times. On 22 occasions, he was referred to the Youth Aid Bureau by a police-issued card. On 16 occasions, formal juvenile reports were made and he was sent instead to the Detention Home—or, in the current vernacular, the "Children's Aid Center." On five occasions, these "referrals" involved the theft of one or more automobiles—including one car which was stolen while he was awaiting a hearing on another auto theft complaint three days previously. This apparently, was a mistake, because the subject is now in custody.

Juvenile No. 2—21 "contacts" involving 15 referrals to Youth Aid Bureau, 6 formal juvenile complaints, two for auto theft—one count involving three cars, the other two cars. At liberty. Age 16.

Juvenile No. 3—22 "contacts" involving 11 referrals, 11 complaints. He stole 10 cars in April, May and June. At liberty. Age 16.

22 Contacts
Juvenile No. 4—7 "contacts" involving two referrals, 7 complaints, including 5 auto thefts. He was arrested in May, taken to the Detention Home, put on probation, and stole another automobile on the way home. Age 15. At liberty.

Juvenile No. 5—41 "contacts" since he was 6 years old; 20 referrals, 21 complaints. Age 16. At liberty.

Juvenile No. 6—13 "contacts" including 6 auto theft complaints. One arrest involved five stolen cars. Age 15.

Juvenile No. 7—25 "contacts," 16 referrals including two for auto thefts but involving 5 cars. Age 15.

Juvenile No. 8—43 "contacts," 33 referrals, 10 complaints including 7 auto thefts. This 17-year-old youth threatened a younger accomplice with a gun so that the younger boy refused to testify in juvenile court; despite police report, court did not revoke probation.

15 Complaints
Juvenile No. 9—57 "contacts" including 42 Youth Aid Bureau referrals, 15 complaints. Age 17. At liberty.

The record does not offer any easy answers. Frustrated police officers say flatly and frankly that they think juvenile authorities are coddling young hoodlums. And the juvenile authorities say they don't have the facilities, and are unlikely ever to have, to keep juvenile offenders in custody even if it were desirable, and they insist that in most cases it isn't.

What's to come of it? What's to happen to the punks when they turn 18 and are liable to prosecution in the criminal courts? And by the way, friend, probably you remember where you parked your car today.

Do you suppose it's still there?

Experts Scan Data Signaled From Mariner

out by the electronic eyes of the 447-pound, gold and silver plated space messenger that rocketed from the earth Aug. 27.

Expect Vital Clues
But they hope, and expect, to get at least some clues to help resolve such vital questions as these:

1. Is Venus a vast, arid desert swept by dust storms, or a sea of water or oil, or a jungle teeming with some forms of life?
2. Is it surrounded by dangerous radiation belts, such as the earth has, thus demanding special precautions in any attempts to land men there?

3. How strong is her magnetic field, and how is her cloud-shrouded environment affected, if at all, by gaseous solar winds that carry particles from the sun at speeds up to 450 miles a second?

4. Are there breaks in the dense clouds that surround her?

The spacecraft, it is tentatively estimated, made its closest approach to Venus at ten seconds before 3 p.m. The target time had been 3.01 p.m.

And, as it headed toward that close contact, reporters at a Washington news conference heard its voice, relayed here from the Mariner project headquarters in Pasadena, Calif.

To most reporters, it had a chime sound. Others thought it more like some celestial organ.

Dr. William Pickering, chief of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of California Institute of Technology, a key figure in the Mariner venture, described it as "the music of the spheres."

NASA Officials Happy
Officials and scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration were obviously overjoyed with the outcome of their $47 million experiment.

They pointed to such achievements as these, aside from the potential rich scientific treasures Mariner's signals are expected to unfold:

1. Mariner's speed of some 40,000 miles an hour, in relation to earth, as it sailed past Venus, was within 3 miles an hour of the predicted speed.

2. Its passage was very close to the "about 21,000 miles" from Venus, as predicted.

3. The scanning instruments responded to a command signal sent nearly 36 million miles from the earth Friday morning after an automatic master clock within the spacecraft had twice failed to do the job.

Important Tests
This latter event climaxed a real cliff-hanging experience for space agency scientists, for if the two radiometers had failed to go on, a vital part of the Venus mission would have been lost.

Much of what will be learned about Venus will come from these radiometers.

The microwave radiometer should help resolve two of the big questions:

1. What is the planet's atmosphere like?
 2. What is the temperature on the surface?
- Key members of the Senate and House Space Committees, present at the news conference, tried to outdo one another in voicing praise for Mariner.
- And James E. Webb Jr., administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, read a message from Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who termed Mariner's great adventure "another plus for American prestige."

From across the sea came appraisal from Sir Bernard Lovell, director of England's Jodrell Bank Radiotelescope Laboratory, that Mariner had scored "by far the most splendid scientific achievement in space."

Kennedy Backs Cut in Taxes, Spending Curbs

At one point, he quoted, approvingly, an economy plea by chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., a tax cut doubter who is chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, which initiates all tax legislation.

He noted a Mills statement that tax cuts must be accompanied by "increased control of the rises in expenditures." Added Kennedy: "This is precisely the course we intend to follow."

Economy Ordered
The President said the new budget going to Congress in January would hold outlays for domestic programs at current levels, although spending for defense and space exploration would rise.

Kennedy said all agencies have to make a grinning aside that "I take New York just as an example."

In discussing taxes, the President said little that was new or startling. But he did serve notice, that he would directly challenge the arguments of those taking a go-slow approach to tax reduction.

"It is increasingly clear," Kennedy said, "that no matter what party is in power, so long as our national security needs keep rising, an economy hampered by restrictive tax rates will never produce enough revenue to balance the budget—just as it will never produce enough jobs or enough profits."

"Investment in Future"
He said the choice is between a no-tax-cut "chronic deficit of inertia" and a transitional tax-cut deficit reflecting "an investment in the future."

At one point, he quoted, approvingly, an economy plea by chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., a tax cut doubter who is chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, which initiates all tax legislation.

Kennedy's Quickie Tax Cut

President Kennedy's plan to ask Congress to put through a quickie tax cut early in the next session has been arousing more and more opposition as the time for Congress to assemble nears. Businessmen's groups and individual businessmen have been attacking the idea and this week the powerful Farm Bureau came out against it. The opposition generally has centered on the proposition that a cut-back in government spending must precede or at least accompany a tax cut.

But the biggest hurdle was raised when the chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Democrat from Arkansas, stated that he was opposed to any tax cut effective in 1963. President Kennedy immediately acknowledged the caliber of this opposition when he summoned Mills to the White House to talk things over.

At the same time the President said he was going ahead with his plans. But significantly Rep. Mills said nothing.

In his earlier statement, Mills said he would go along with a tax reduction if it was part of a general tax reform bill but would not approve of this going into effect until 1964. He said he does not think a tax cut to stimulate the economy is needed in 1963.

It is as an economic stimulant that administration supporters justify the quickie tax cut idea. This is really another version of the theory that the government can manage the economy by spending the country out of a recession. Instead of the government going into debt to finance make-work projects, this theory is that a tax cut will allow individuals and corporations to spend more money. But if the tax cut is not accompanied by a reduction in federal expenditures, obviously it will also result in a larger national debt.

The suspicion is that if the Kennedy Administration could get a quickie tax cut through Congress proposals for consideration of the whole problem of tax reform and federal spending would be delayed indefinitely.

There is no doubt that revision of the federal tax structure is badly needed. The 52 per cent tax on corporations is a serious deterrent to business growth. And the ridiculously high upper brackets of the individual income tax certainly discourage initiative. But business and individuals have been living with these tax rates since World War II and business has fluctuated greatly during that period, so that the rates themselves aren't the whole answer to the problem.

Senator Harry Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who is even more opposed to the quickie cut than Rep. Mills, put his finger on the real problem when he commented that business is distrustful of the fiscal irresponsibility of the Kennedy Administration, and that it is this distrust which is hampering economic growth.

A simple across-the-board tax cut now is not the answer. Federal taxes must be reduced, but concurrently there must be a real effort to reduce federal spending and a thorough review of the whole tax structure to reduce inequities as well as rates.

What's Wrong With the Milk Market?

Wisconsin's dairy farmers are continually increasing the output of milk but they could probably sell it all and more if it were not for legal barriers keeping them out of certain markets.

In the United States it is well known that here and there across the nation small pockets of dairymen have, through political control, organized their districts in such a way as to establish a favorable price for themselves and at the same time prevent other competing dairymen from selling in their district. Wisconsin dairymen have fought this trade barrier for years without much success. Most of the trade agreements which are often maintained under the guise of health provisions are in the eastern section of the country in the large population areas which also have powerful congressional representatives in Washington.

Recently Owen Hallberg, general manager of Dairy Maid Products, Eau Claire, returned from a visit to a London food fair where he introduced instant chocolate milk to the housewives attending the event. He learned a great many things there but one of the most painful was the fact that the British also have laws against the introduction and sale of milk products without the approval of England's National Milk Board which controls the British dairy industry.

Hallberg says that the British were enthusiastic over the product they had never seen or tasted before. In three weeks at the fair he sold 17,000 glasses of the non-fat dry milk at seven cents a glass. British housewives told him it was a good drink and they wanted to know where they could buy it.

It was then that Hallberg learned about the British laws against the sale of milk products.

Hallberg complains that "they're wrong because 35 to 40 per cent of the London homes have no refrigeration and the rest have small refrigerators. Non-fat powder could be sold to these people without cutting into the whole milk sales."

No doubt Hallberg is correct. The British housewives would like to have this American product. But also a great many American housewives would like to have more good wholesome Wisconsin milk but they cannot get it at a fair price because the local politicians feel it is necessary to protect their local dairy industries.

Somewhere, sometime, no doubt consumers will find a way to make their voices heard.

U.N. Must Stand on Principle

The United Nations General Assembly is currently faced with a decision which probably will indicate whether the international body will increase its world influence, become merely an impotent debating society or disintegrate altogether.

The matter involved is how to pay for the continually expanding special agencies of the United Nations, particularly the expensive peace-keeping machinery now at work in the Middle East and the Congo. The possibilities of such troops being used in Laos or other unstable areas of the world depends upon whether the costs of those now in existence can be met and how they are met.

The regular assessments of each country, even when they are made—and many nations are behind in these payments—do not meet the requirements of the special agencies. The United Nations bond issue has been a temporary measure. So also have been loans from the United States from other funds earmarked for the United Nations.

Some nations, like the Soviet Union, simply don't pay the special agency assessments. Others like France argue that the assessments are binding only upon those nations which agree to the special agencies involved. France is paid up to date for the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East. But it disagreed with the establishment of the Congo operation and has refused to pay a single franc. Russia, always a little different, agreed to the establishment of the Congo force but won't contribute toward its support, having determined at a later date that the whole thing was "illegal."

Last summer the International Court of Justice ruled by a vote of 9 to 5 that special agency assessments were as binding as regular assessments. Those nations who fall more than two years in arrears on regular assessments may be deprived of voting rights in the United Nations. But it is necessary that the General Assembly accept the finding of the World Court.

The United States is among ten nations who have sponsored such a resolution now before the General Assembly Budgetary Committee. Another resolution, also sponsored by the U.S. and eight other nations, asks that the Working Group of Fifteen, originally established a couple of years ago to determine the machinery to pay for the special agencies, be reactivated to work out what everybody owes.

But Brazil and some other Latin American nations are reportedly working on a resolution which would have the General Assembly determine the amount of assessments upon a nation's development and ability to pay as well as upon the special responsibilities which fall upon the five permanent members of the Security Council, the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia and Nationalist China. Some African nations are reported to be preparing an amendment to this Latin American resolution calling upon the Assembly to get delinquent members to pay up for the Congo and Middle East forces. And there is a rumor that if such an amendment is offered, Latin American nations in arrears will withdraw support from their resolution.

The important matter here is that special agency assessments be considered as binding upon member nations as regular assessments. Of course, if the resolution is adopted, there is a chance of disintegration of the United Nations. The Soviet Union, for instance, if it has the backing of such a nation as France, may refuse to pay and put the U.N. upon the spot of withdrawing the right to vote from all nations in arrears—a responsibility which the General Assembly must carry out. The United Nations could die if enough nations sided with Russia.

But the U.N. cannot long continue to exist in its present form. Whatever the formula adopted for assessments all activities of the U.N. must be financially supported by all members. As British representative Patrick Wall said, "the alternative is the undignified collapse of this organization and, with it, the vanishing of all those hopes which the governments and peoples of the whole world have placed upon it."

If the United Nations dies it should at least expire while upholding principle. It will surely collapse anyway if it does not.

Prime Minister of Britain Is Frequent Visitor of Presidents

BY SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Next to his wife, it seems an American President sees more of the British Prime Minister than any one else.

When President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan sit down together in Nassau Dec. 19 it will mark the 17th conference between the leaders of the United States and Britain in the last 10 years. The talk sites have ranged all over the Atlantic coastline from Key West, Fla., to New York, Bermuda and London. (See map). They have generally served to patch up cracks in the strong alliance between the United Kingdom and the U. S. and plan for the future.

While not as cheap as a phone call, the talks provide an informal opportunity for the two leaders to get to know one another as well as coordinate policy with an intimacy no other means of communications can offer.

HERE'S CAPSULE RESUME
A brief capsule resume of the Anglo-American talks since 1952: Jan. 6, 1952: Churchill-Truman at Washington. Discussed relations with Russia, the command structure of NATO, the Iranian Oil crisis, German rearmament and atomic energy.

Jan. 6-8, 1953: Churchill-President-elect Eisenhower at New York. An "informal exploration of future British-American relations." Eisenhower not yet president so no formal statement issued but discussions covered Korean War, European defense and possible easing of trade barriers to help British economy.

Jan. 9, 1953: Churchill-Truman at Washington. A final meeting covering most of the matters brought up a year earlier.

June 25, 1954: Churchill-Eisenhower at Washington. Topics included French delay on ratifying European Defense Community, how to restore German sovereignty, a proposal for a South-east Asia defensive alliance, and a means to a fuller exchange of atomic information.

Jan. 31, 1956: Eden-Eisenhower at Washington. Rejection of a Soviet offer of a 20-year non-aggression pact. British request for U. S. support in Israel-Egypt dispute and admission of China to the United Nations were topics on the agenda.

March 20, 1957: Eden-Eisenhower at Bermuda. An attempt to heal breach caused by Anglo-French invasion of Suez. U. S. agreed to let Britain have guided missiles. Both agreed to continue atomic testing. U. S. said it would cooperate closely but not join Baghdad Pact.

Oct. 24, 1957: Macmillan-Eisenhower at Washington. Talks followed Russia's Sputnik I. Two partners agreed to pool arms, atomic weapons and scientific knowledge.

June 9, 1958: Macmillan-Eisenhower at Washington. Prime minister on way home from visiting mother's Indiana birthplace. Discussions covered Russian proposal for summit talks, British desire for greater trade with Russia and low Western prestige in Middle East.

March 10, 1959: Macmillan-Eisenhower at Camp David, Md. and Washington. Two leaders agreed to summit conference with Khrushchev and to moderate West's insistence on reunification of Germany as the first objective in Europe.

JOINT TV APPEARANCES
Aug. 27, 1959: Macmillan-Eisenhower at London. Informal talks during Eisenhower's European trip covered upcoming summit conference, tactics in handling recent Soviet moves in Europe, disarmament. The President and Prime Minister later made joint TV appearance.

March 26, 1960: Macmillan-Eisenhower at Camp David. Prime Minister came to prevent split among allies over Russia's halting of nuclear testing.

March 26, 1961: Macmillan-Kennedy at Key West. Kennedy asked for meeting to get full agreement on steps toward intervention in Laos before talks were to begin few days later at Southeast Treaty Organization conference.

April 5-6, 1961: Macmillan-Kennedy at London. Announced "satisfaction" with Russia's support of plan to neutralize Laos. Agreed West Berlin must be kept strong.

Dec. 21, 1961: Macmillan-Kennedy at Bermuda. Discussed Berlin wall, preparations for nuclear testing, Indian-Goa crisis, future of U. N., West New Guinea and urgency of Congo negotiations between Prime Ministers Adoula and Tshombe.

April 28, 1962: Macmillan-Kennedy at Washington. Talked over European Common Market and its effect on Britain, disarmament, resumption by West of nuclear testing and said they

U. S. Must Not Weaken Stand on Resolution In U. N. Over Hungary

BY ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Is the Kennedy administration about to back down on the strong stand which the United States has always taken to rally the UN behind its continued condemnation of the Soviet invasion of Hungary and its imposition by force of the repressive Kadar regime?

The Hungarian issue is again on the agenda of the UN political committee. On the eve of the crucial debate it is not yet apparent that the U. S. is prepared to put its full weight behind another vigorous resolution assuring the Hungarian people that the conscience — if not the force — of the free world is on the side of their ultimate liberation.

The best thing that could happen is the passage of a U. S. resolution calling on the Soviet Union to comply with the past UN demands that it abandon its colonial policy, withdraw its troops from Hungarian soil, hold free elections in Hungary under UN supervision, and let Hungary be neutralized on the Austrian model.

WEAK RESOLUTION POSSIBLE

The worst thing that could happen would be for the United States to accept some weak, pusillanimous resolution which would take the Soviet-run Kadar regime off the hook of UN ostracism and serve notice to the subject peoples of Moscow's nine captive nations in Eastern Europe that all hope of freedom and self-determination must be abandoned.

Ever since the heroic revolt of the Hungarian people in 1956, the U. S. has put itself actively behind the strong stand the UN has taken year after year.

But this year the advance U. S. support for maintenance of the UN condemnation has not been visible; at most it has been passive and uncertain.

It may take public and Congressional pressure to persuade the President and Secretary of State Rusk to try to hold the line against UN retreat and some quiet footwork by Ambassador Adlai Stevenson to make up for the time lost by the failure to decide U. S. policy before the last minute.

The latest report of "Hungary Under Soviet Rule," prepared by the American Friends of the Captive Nations, the Assembly of the Captive European Nations, and the Hungarian Committee shows:

That the Kadar regime, proped up by the continued presence of 80,000 Soviet troops, still rules Hungary with an iron fist.

That while there has been were ready to meet at summit with Russia but doubted if conditions were right at the moment.

Dec. 19, 1962: Macmillan-Kennedy at Nassau. Time will tell.

Looking Backward

Enemy Entrenched and Waiting

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 20, 1862.

New York, Dec. 17 — The correspondent of the New York Tribune describes the carnage of Saturday (Dec. 13):

It is not using too strong an expression to say that in this battle (Fredericksburg, Va.) we were butchered. The loss of the enemy in comparison with our own must be insignificant. More than half of the Division of Gen. French were placed hors du combat before they had fired a shot.

Having orders to withhold their fire, charge bayonets and rush upon the entrenchments, they anticipated no obstacle until they should meet in hand to hand fight for the crest of the first range of hills.

But little did they know the foe they had to deal with. Lying close upon the soft earth behind the low stone wall and half destroyed fence, which we had not taken into calculations as obstacles, the enemy watched the approach of French and his men until every man in battle line came under the aim of the best sharpshooters in the rebel army.

In an instant, almost before the fence was discovered to be an obstacle, a long thick line of flame and smoke streamed above the fence and wall. At the moment the first volley was fired, 60 pieces of artillery, charged with grape and canister, sent their infernal contents straight through our advancing lines, raking them in front and on both flanks.

Destruction so terrible never before has been seen during this war. French went into battle with 7,000 men; two days after the battle only 1,200 men reported to him.

The entire loss of the corps of Couch, consisting of the divisions of Howard, French and Hancock, and which on the morning of the battle contained 40 regiments, old and new, amounting to at least 20,000, is now 10,000.

I think official reports will not vary from this estimate more than 500 over or under. Losses in Reynold's corps of Franklin's Division, at first supposed to be but 2,000, are now considered by some of Franklin's staff officers to be nearly 4,000.

(The official figures of the day's battle totalled 12,700 Union men killed or wounded in the fierce fighting below Marye's Heights. The Union dead were in piles.)

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Dec. 11, 1937

Mrs. Laura Mitchell was named general chairman of Circle 5 of First Congregational Church, Appleton. Five sub-chairmen elected were Mrs. Kate Leith, Mrs. Frank Zschaeche, Mrs. Myrtle Miller, Mrs. John Lappen and Mrs. John Bower.

Max Steig was elected president of the Clintonville Association of Commerce. Other officers included William Zastrow, vice president, and Clarence Zastrow, the reelected secretary-treasurer. Steig succeeded L. A. Heuer as head of the commerce group.

Debaters on the Wilson Junior High School teams that year included James Miller, Margaret Lally, William Kohl and Virginia Nabefeldt on the affirmative team and Jean Feavel, Franklin Ritke, Janet Bixby and Beverly Olson on the negative squad.

Dan Leppa was named presisome superficial easing of repression, these concessions do not involve the restoration of a single fundamental political right.

That any action by the UN — and particularly by the United States — to "write them off" would have the most depressive effect on the Hungarians and tempt them to become resigned to their fate, because they would be without friends.

That if the U. S. acquiesces in a weak UN Hungarian resolution, the free world will lose some of its strongest allies in the peoples of Eastern Europe and its position vis-a-vis the Soviet Union will be weaker.

SHOULD HEED REPORT

It seems to me that the Kennedy administration and the U. S. Senators and Congressmen, who in the past have given their unanimous moral support to the peoples of the Eastern Europe captive nations in their hope for ultimate liberation, will do well to heed this conclusion from the report on "Hungary Under Soviet Rule."

"The handling of the Hungarian issue at this session of the General Assembly is more important as a barometer of U. S. policy than the vote of the Assembly itself. But if the majority decides to abandon the strong stand on Hungary — which expressed the conscience of the whole free world — the honor and prestige of the UN itself is bound to suffer."

"It will mean the official elevation of a double standard which would press for freedom and self-determination for peoples of Africa and Asia, but deny this to the peoples of Eastern Europe. People will forgive the UN for its inability to get Soviet troops out of Hungary, but they will not forgive a UN failure to stand by its own resolutions when they are totally defied."

If the United Nations wants to abandon the cause of self-determination for the peoples of Eastern Europe, there is no reason the U. S. should join the enterprise.

Freeman Urges Potato Growers To Lower Output

Omaha World-Herald

Agriculture Secretary Freeman urged the nation's potato producers to get behind a Government-supervised program to end potato overproduction.

We hope the potato producers will remind Mr. Freeman of what happened a few years back. We hope they will refresh his memory of rotting piles of purple-dyed potatoes which the Government took off the market. We imagine that any potato grower who went through the Government wringer then will give Mr. Freeman a firm "No," and leave off the "thank you."

dent of the Central Civic League at a meeting at the Appleton YMCA. Other officers included Harold Finger, vice president, and William Denstedt, secretary. The organization formerly had been known as the Central Voters League.

Miss Mary de Jonge, reference librarian at Appleton public library, presented a talk on "Legends of the Madonna" at a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Episcopal Church.

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Dec. 13, 1952

A community open house was scheduled for the following day at the new $1,100,000 Franklin Elementary School Miss Selma Abendroth, formerly at the old Franklin School, was the principal of the new school. The project, started in October, 1950, had been completed in time for the opening of the current school year.

Three new directors of the Shiocton Community Club included William Young, Clarence Johnson and Harold Anthony. Other directors were Ralph Gehrmg, Milo Singler and Don Ronk.

New Brownie Scouts in Troop 92 at Roosevelt School, Neenah, included Penny Whiting, Kathleen Rumssey, Judy Rudolf, Christine Bisel, Mary Sue Judd, Shirley LaSage, Jean Zarnoth, Carol Young, Vedra Puess, Carol Paff, Carol Clark, Jane Lyons and Karen Swenson.

Dr. H. C. Schmalenberg, New London, was elected president of the New London Community Hospital staff. Dr. L. F. Morneau, Bear Creek, was named vice president and Dr. G. M. LaCroix, Shiocton, was reelected secretary and treasurer. Dr. W. J. Monsted, New London, was reelected president.

Jingo's Intrigued by WLUK Weather Show

Praises TV Station for Its Bright, Imaginative Approach to Subject

BY JINGO
Jingo often has been rough on television for one reason or another; so it is only fair that commendation in the same field should come from him also.

The reason for this uncharacteristic action on Jingo's part is the innovation at WLUK that has added a most interesting flip to its evening weather program.

Until now the "moving weather" has been something of a mystery that has garnered Channel 11 a bundle of letters and, presumably, a crop of new viewers.

For those of you who haven't lost your loyalty to Channel 2's glib weatherman or Channel 5's "mad hatter," Channel 11's new gimmick consists of weather symbols that take inexplicable action when they are fastened to the weather map.

The high and low cells rotate in the proper circulation. The warm, cold and occluded fronts shimmer and movement arrows seems to slide on their paths.

Jingo has taken special notice of how TV has bolstered the important, although dry, weather broadcasts. He's seen the pleasant incongruity of pretty girls, sat through the wisecracks of the fast talking disc-jockey types and relished the well-informed pedantic approach, but Channel 11's addition of mystery tops them all.

Learning the secret of the moving weather hasn't lessened Jingo's appreciation; so he feels he won't hurt Channel 11 if he passes it on.

The weather map, of course, is metallic and the symbols are magnetic; hence the symbols stick. The movement is a little more complicated.

The symbols are made up of numerous strips that react to polarized light. The map is illuminated by a klieg spotlight equipped with a moving polarized lens.

When the light passes through the moving lens it affects the symbol strips in much the same way the fluorescent light affects a quarter that is spun on a bar.

The editor who wrote to Virginia about Santa Claus warned about taking a rattle apart to see how it works. Jingo hopes his taking apart "moving weather" hasn't spoiled anything. It certainly is a good thing to see TV imagination so close to home.

Speaking of new things, Jingo had the occasion of attending another of the Bergstrom Art Center's film series at the Neenah

Denmark, Reedsville Hilbert Undefeated In Little Nine Action

Panthers Record Convincing Win Over Omro, 73-35

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE
W L
Denmark 3 6 Bear Creek 1 2
Hilbert 1 2 Freedom 1 2
Reedsville 3 0 Omro 0 3
Hortonville 2 1 Shiocton 0 3
Winneconne 2 1 Wrightstown 0 3

Friday Night's Results:
Reedsville 73, Omro 35.
Denmark 58, Shiocton 50.
Hilbert 84, Winneconne 43.
Hortonville 44, Wrightstown 38.
Freedom 61, Bear Creek 58 (OT)

Defending co-champions Denmark and Reedsville remained at the top of the Little Nine Conference after Friday night play and were joined by high-scoring Hilbert as the loop's undefeated schools.

Denmark polished off winless Shiocton 58-50, while Reedsville handed Omro its third setback of the season, 73-35. Hilbert knocked off previously unbeaten Winneconne, overpowering the Wolves 86-63.

In other conference action, Hortonville beat Wrightstown 64-38, and Freedom nipped Bear Creek in an overtime 61-58.

Gene Klann's 26-point outburst paced Reedsville's Panthers past Omro. The 64 junior dumped in 11 baskets to combine with Ray Loppnow's 13-point effort to settle the visiting Foxes' ideas of an upset. Paul Miller paced the posers, hitting on 10 free throws and finishing with 16 points.

Lead at Half
Both teams experienced difficulty in scoring during the first half, but Reedsville still managed a 13-point half-time lead. Forty-four points in the second half clinched the Panther's third victory of the season.

Denmark ran into stiff opposition at Shiocton, but the Danes' accuracy at the free throw line overcame the well-balanced attack of the Chiefs. Each team hit on 22 field goals, but Denmark managed 13 free throws to Shiocton's 6.

Leon Rasmussen led the Danes with 18 points, with Allan Valenline hitting for 12. The Chiefs' Gene Conradt led all scorers, the 5-8 guard hitting for 20 points. He was given strong backing, with each of the starters scoring three baskets.

Control of the backboards led Hilbert to the conference's highest score of the season, as Andy Schaefer and Gerry Thiel gave Court, accused of perjury; her testimony helped convict a man of murder. Now another man has confessed the original crime, so Mike Weinreis hit for 20 from the DA Theodore Bikel is attempting to prosecute Miss Court on an old, untied statute which makes it a capital offense to commit perjury which leads to an execution. Benedict (Edmond O'Brien) agrees to defend Miss Court but it isn't easy. Ultimately, his only defense involves a courtroom attempt to break Miss Court on the stand; it's a nasty business, but he does it.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Defenders introduces a fascinating character, but wastes him on a talker-than-usual story. Albert Salmi plays Peter Brinks, a young man who stands on street corners dressed in rags with a sign ("Love me and save the world") around his neck. He is badgered by two drunks and after taking a bad beating, brings down his heavy staff and clobbers one. E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed try to defend him, but he'll say nothing in his defense; in his eyes, he is guilty of failing to follow his own words.

8-10 (Channel 4-5) — Saturday Night At The Movies brings you "Desiree," the 1954 costume drama which stars Marlon Brando. PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates said Friday night they have traded catcher Don Leppert to the Washington Senators for minor league pitcher Ron Honeycutt and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The 30-year-old Leppert spent his first full season in 1962 with the Pirates. He played in 45 games, batted .266, hit three home runs and batted in 18 runs.

Honeycutt is a 20-year-old right-hander who chalked up a 5-6 record and 2.94 earned run average with Raleigh in the class B Carolina League last season.

The Pirates said he will be assigned to their Kingston club in the Carolina League.

Neenah Breezes to 70-36 M-E Victory Over New London

Rockets Take Commanding Lead With Big Second Period Total

BY HAROLD KURTZ Post-Crescent Staff Writer NEW LONDON — Neenah used balanced scoring — and plenty of it — to breeze by New London 70-36, in a Mid-Eastern Conference game Friday. It was Neenah's second loop win against one setback and the third straight loss for the Bulldogs.

Knights Suffer Cold Spell, Lose, 61-54

Freezing 3 Minutes In Third Period Ruins Chance of Upset

BY DON CASTONIA Post-Crescent Staff Writer OSHKOSH — A cold three minutes in the third quarter killed dreams of a major upset here Friday night as Fond du Lac St. Mary's Springs fought off a determined Lourdes five, 61-54.

The young Knights, who are now winless in six starts, had the favored Fond du Lac team on the ropes 33-29 a third of the way through the third period when they suddenly went cold and Springs rolled up 10 straight points.

The Ledgers are now 2-1 in FVCC play and 4-3 over-all. Lourdes is 0-3 in loop play. Free throws again were the downfall of the Knights as for the second straight game they outshot their opponents from the floor. St. Mary's hit on 19 of 29.

The aggressive Knights were called for 22 fouls. Steve Schumacher, a sophomore, and junior center Joe Suda each scored 19 points in the losing effort. Big Al Steffes had 18 points, 8 from the free throw line, to pace the Ledgers.

After Jack Litjens scored to open the game for Lourdes, the Knights had to fight from a 7-3 deficit to take an 8-7 lead at the first quarter mark.

The second period saw-sawed back and forth with the lead changing hands five times before Pete Burns and Steffes broke a 23-21 deadlock with three free throws at the end of the half.

Lourdes rallied in the third quarter as Schumacher hit on a basket and Suda and Ron Zuehlke dropped in two baskets each to give the Knights a 33-29 lead at the three minute mark of the quarter.

Lourdes ran out of gas at this point and Steffes, Boyle and Burns led the St. Mary's surge which carried them to a 42-35 lead going into the final 8 minutes of play.

The Ledgers stretched their margin to 11 points, 50-39, before Lourdes made a last-ditch effort and closed the gap to five points with 1:20 left to play.

In the preliminary contest, the Springs juniors defeated Lourdes, 56-46.

Kroner's Last Second Bucket Nets Kimberly 55-53 Victory

Papermakers Stave Off Late Shawano Thrust

Kimberly — Dennis Kroner picked up a loose ball and dribbled half the length of the court for a layup to give Kimberly a 55-53 victory over Shawano here Friday night.

Kroner picked off the ball with only three seconds remaining and the ball hit the net just as the buzzer sounded.

The basket stopped a Shawano thrust that started with nearly six minutes to play. Kimberly built its lead back up to 10 points, 49-39, and appeared ready to pull away. The Indians connected for two field goals and four straight free throws in the space of 3 1/2 minutes to tie the count at 49 all.

Exciting Climax Lee Levknecht hit for Kimberly with 2:12 to play and Jim Judd connected on a jump shot for Shawano at the 1:43 mark.

Manawa Quintet Takes Charge in Second Half to Tip FVL, 55-42

all, it looked like a real donnybrook was in the making. Then the farce began during the next eight minutes. Manawa went on a 20-point spurge while completely blanking the Foxes.

Jim Buschke, elevated from the junior varsity squad, and high-scoring Bill Rohde led the charge less than 13 times in the first of the Wolf pack with eight and seven points, respectively, as Manawa took a 47-27 advantage into the closing segment.

The best part of another minute passed before John Koschmann broke the ice for the Foxes with a free throw.

It was all over but the shouting, however, as Manawa coach Stu Courchane was already sipping in the reserves.

First Period Advantage In the earlier going, Koschmann's five points had sparked FVL to a 13-12 first-period advantage. Cal Pruess matched that output for Manawa.

Wayne Koenig and Barry Wierschke supplied the brunt of an attack which enabled the Foxes to take a short-lived, 27-23, lead just before half time.

Jim Buschke of Manawa and John Koschmann (24) of Fox Valley Lutheran fought to retrieve this loose ball in the non-conference game at Fox Valley Lutheran's gym Friday night. Manawa handed the Foxes a 55-42 setback. (Post-Crescent Photo)

West 42, South 53.

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Associated Press Sports Writer

With 1 minute, 30 seconds remaining in the first half of Friday night's basketball game, Appleton High School's chances of winning were tantamount to the United States' prospects of landing an astronaut on the moon in 1963.

At that stage, the Terrors were down by 17 points, 41-24, to a coordinated, poised Oshkosh team which was sinking floor shots at a better than 60 per cent accuracy rate.

The Terrors, however, caught the unsuspecting Indians with a massive retaliatory punch that swept aside the huge deficit and produced a 67-64 victory.

Tie for Lead The greatest comeback in the 10-season coaching regime of Dick Emanuel sent his 1962-63 charges into a tie for the Fox River Valley Conference lead.

AHS' monumental rally topped a wild night in the FRVC, which also saw both Sheboygan South and Sheboygan North suffer their first league defeats. Green Bay West handed South its first loss in any game, 62-53; while Green Bay East handled North, 59-52.

Six teams, including AHS, now share the congested top rung with 2-1 records. After the Terrors had fallen behind by 17 points before an AHS gym crowd that became pretty well resigned to the team's fourth straight home loss, they scored the last five points of the first half (a free throw by Jim Bertischy and baskets by Pete Walter and Gary Hielpas) to reduce their disadvantage to 12 points, 41-29.

Retain Big Lead But the genuine fireworks were not yet ready to pop. Oshkosh remained hot in the early minutes of the third quarter and clung tenaciously to its solid lead.

After three minutes had elapsed in the second half, the Indians still led by 13 (50-37). In the next five minutes, Terror speed tore apart the Indians' zone defense and AHS sharpshooters scorched the nets to take the game out of the "sure thing" category for Oshkosh.

Brian Bock, one of AHS' game-long pace-makers, started the surge with a corner goal. Mike Woehler's free throw was neutralized by Oshkosh's Greg Wood, and Woehler's corner swisher was matched by Roger Beck's "sleeper" shot.

Doug Ehke, who drilled through all four shots he took in the game, sank a 15-footer, and Bock draped through a pair of free throws.

'Jays Post Second M-E Triumph by Beating Kaukauna

Accurate Free Throw Shooting Key Factor in 59-51 Success

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY Post-Crescent Staff Writer MENASHA — The combined talents of reserve Rocky Gmeiner and center Mark Pawlowski and some accurate free throw shooting propelled to a 59-51 Mid-Eastern Conference win over Kaukauna here Friday night.

The Bluejays have a 2-1 league record; the Ghosts 0-3.

The visitors led most of the way and by as many as seven points late in the second quarter but a last period comeback which saw Pawlowski and Gmeiner garner seven and six points respectively and a seven-for-eight effort from the free throw line gave the victory to Menasha.

Kaukauna led 47-46, with 3:48 left to play, when the Jays put together a string of six straight points. They went on to outscore the visitors, 13-6, the rest of the way.

Konkel's Jump Shot Tom Konkel's jump shot gave Menasha the lead at 48-47. Ten seconds later Pawlowski picked up a loose ball and converted it into a score and a short time later Bill Herrbold made two free throws, increasing the lead to 52-47.

Kaukauna wasn't able to get the spread under three points thereafter.

The hard-fought affair was tied six times in the first period and Kaukauna led, 16-14, at its conclusion. The Ghosts were in front 30-23 late in the second quarter but Menasha cut the score to 30-29 at halftime. Menasha had a 42-41 lead at the end of three segments.

Both teams made 20 field goals, each getting five per period. From the free throw line, Menasha had a brilliant 19 of 23. Kaukauna collected 11 of 18. Menasha also won the jayvee

Two Rivers '5' Deals Truckers 77-65 Defeat

Purple Raiders Stay Unbeaten In Mid-Eastern

TWO RIVERS — The Two Rivers Raiders stand alone atop the Mid Eastern Conference today following a second half flurry which left Clintonville on the short end of a 77-65 Friday night game. It was the third straight win for Two Rivers and the second loss in three league starts for the Truckers.

The Raiders scored seven points in the first 30 seconds of the game, but Clintonville gradually came back. The visiting Truckers lead to 36-31 before the Raiders zoomed out of range again.

Zora Folley, Doug Jones Meet Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Zora Folley, who's afraid he'll be old and gray before he ever gets a shot at the heavyweight title, aims for his 10th straight victory tonight in a television 10-rounder with Doug Jones at Madison Square Garden.

Despite the big winning streak and a previous decision over Jones only last Aug. 1, the 30-year-old heavyweight contender from Chandler, Ariz., is rated only even money against the 25-year-old light heavyweight contender from New York.

Folley must live to keep even his slim title hopes alive. A loss to the dangerous Jones, would knock him out of the picture for keeps.

Aluminum Windows Eliminates Use of Step-Ladder

No more reaching, bending or stretching to clean the inner window glass of your home. Top and bottom glass panels can be removed from the inside of the house for easy cleaning. No more step-ladder or ladder washing from outside the house. Those days are gone forever, according to Tom Temple Window and Door Sales.

Because the replacement sash is made entirely of special anodized aluminum, you never have to worry about rust, rot, painting or refinishing. The sash is also completely weather-stripped and ventilation may be from both top and bottom at the same time. There is no metal-to-metal contact to stick or bind the sash. The nylon cushion with vinyl and mohair track permit smooth, effortless operation. Installation is done without disturbing the plaster or marring the paint or varnish of the window casing and sill.

DeVac is also the manufacturer of Glass Wall and Ray-Vent porch and breezeway enclosures. The units combine the versatility and beauty of wood with aluminum glass panels. Over 100 of these DeVac porch enclosures have been installed in the Fox Valley area.

Another high quality product is the Flexaluminum awning. Flexaluminum awnings, a division of Bridgeport Brass Company, are available in five basic styles with over 100 color combinations. The paint process is a special two-coat, baked enamel process which impregnates wax in the finish. The paint is guaranteed not to chip, peel, fade or crack. A five-year bonded guarantee covers both the paint and the awning itself.

The firm has its shop and warehouse building on North Bluemound Road between College Avenue and Wisconsin Avenue.

46 Now Seek City Building Inspector Job

Mayor Mitchell Says He Expects More Will Apply for Post

City hall has been deluged with 46 applications from local and state residents seeking the job of Appleton building inspector.

"Applications have been pouring in all week and there will probably be more," commented Mayor Clarence Mitchell.

Building Inspector Walter Bogan will reach the mandatory retirement age soon and intends to step down as inspector Feb. 1.

The city has been advertising for applicants, and Mayor Mitchell says he will make the appointment to start the new building inspector on March 1 as per the action of the common council.

The job will pay a monthly salary of $525 to start with, the range increasing to $575.

Under the present arrangement, there is a possibility the city will be without the services of a building inspector for the month of February.

Written Exams

There has been talk among members of the common council, but no official action, to retain Bogan on a per diem basis to assist getting his successor oriented to the job.

Mitchell says he will have the State Bureau of Personnel conduct written examinations for the applicants. Those who qualify for the position will also be interviewed before the mayor makes his selection.

Several years ago the common council appointed the building inspector by ballot. However, the mayor now makes the appointment, subject to confirmation of the council.

Fremont Unit Elects Officers

Edward Allis Named New President of Community Group

FREMONT — Edward Allis, newly elected president of the Fremont Chamber of Commerce, will direct the activities of the coming year with Frank Smith, elected vice-president at the board of directors meeting Thursday.

Evan Redemann, secretary, and William Mathwig, treasurer, were elected to succeed Ronald Abbott after the formerly combined office was separated. Abbott and Duane Mielke, former vice president, will serve on the board of directors.

The installation of new officers, when they will be introduced to the membership of the Chamber of Commerce, will be held at a couples' banquet at the Hotel Fremont Jan. 7.

Planning the banquet will be Ted Lantvit, chairman; Duane Mielke, master of ceremonies; Gene Redemann and Walter Goode. Loren Stevens was appointed chairman of the 1963 membership committee.

A committee of Pershing Cox, chairman; Leonard Rowen, Clayton Looker, Dale Ludtke, Walter Brey and Arthur Hahn was chosen to plan the Jan. 13 Chamber of Commerce-sponsored fisherie. Plans were completed by the board of directors to place a sign advertising the Tustin-Lake Poygan area, and the Fremont-Lake Partridge area, at the junction of State 49 and County Trunk H near Poy Sippi.

$300,000 Land Purchase Plan For Calumet County Okayed

5,800 Acres of Hunting, Fishing Area Will be Obtained by State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — State conservation commissioners have reacted cautiously to a plan for a huge public fishing grounds acquisition program in Northeastern Wisconsin, but have authorized the Conservation Department's men to proceed with the purchasing of new public recreational preserves in Oconto and Calumet Counties that will be easily accessible to Fox River Valley residents.

The commission at its session in Poyntette Friday decided that it wanted to check further before approving a 47,000 acre blueprint, which would cost nearly $2,000,000 for fish habitat lands including stream and lake frontage in 10 counties ranging from Shawano to Florence.

Start Acquisitions

But it authorized the start of acquisitions of about 700 acres along the Green Bay shore-line in Oconto County that may cost about $166,000 and approved a preliminary project outline for the long-promoted Brillion marsh wildlife area in Calumet County. The Calumet County plan contemplates the purchase of about 5,800 acres of land for upland game management, fur-bearing animals and public hunting, at a cost of more than $300,000 over a period of years.

A secondary pattern of lands would be acquired later, officials indicated, to meet the hunting pressure from the near-by urban areas along the Fox River from Winnebago County to Green Bay. The state game division said the local governments in the district and the county board have indicated approval of the project, and that as specific land acquisitions are proposed, their direct endorsement will be solicited.

Duck Hunting

The land buying along the West Green Bay shore will involve scattered parcels of wetlands and some bay frontage. One of the parcels was described as a traditional duck hunting site known as "Rush Point."

The commission also approved the purchase of 150 acres along the South Branch of the Oconto River in Oconto County which was described as a key purchase to provide public control of about 3,000 feet of stream frontage.

Dog Jumps on Driver, Causes Five-Car Accident in Menasha

MENASHA — Five cars were involved in an accident at 5:20 p.m. Friday on Third Street near the Racine Street intersection when a dog jumped onto the lap of the driver of the fifth car. Four of the cars were damaged to an estimated total of $1,250.

John S. Merton, 54, route 2, Hilbert, said his dog had jumped onto his lap and that he did not see the four cars ahead of him were stopped for the traffic light. He hit the rear car, starting a chain reaction of car hitting car ahead.

Drivers of the other cars, from front to rear, were David Neubauer, 23, 8304 Tayco Road; Gilbert F. Pulis, 44, 400 Gardner Row, Appleton; Benjamin J. Schauman, 32, route 1, Menasha, and Peter A. Brochtrup, 65, 641 Appleton St.

Both Susan Schauman, route 1, Menasha, and Brochtrup reported receiving neck whiplash injuries in the accident.

Afraid of Police, Man Loses Foot Race With Law in Neenah

NEENAH — Neenah police chased a fleeing Neenah man through the downtown district during the height of shopping hours at 7:30 p.m. Friday, only to learn the man had run because he was afraid of police.

A motorcycle patrolman had noticed the man "pull recklessly" from the middle of the street into a parking stall, almost colliding with a car on the inside lane. He said he called to the man, parked his motorcycle and started across the street to speak to the man when the man fled "in a dead run."

He radioed a description of the man and notified the beat patrolman at the downtown corner who kept a watch on the car. When the man came back to his car he saw the waiting policeman and again fled.

The beat patrolman chased him down W. Wisconsin Avenue and south on Church Street before the patrolman fell near the W. Doty Avenue intersection. The patrolman called to two men nearby who stopped the man in front of the Presbyterian Church.

The beat patrolman handcuffed the fleeing man and took him to the police station. The Neenah man said he had run because he was afraid of police. Investigation showed he was driving at night with a temporary driver's license.

He has been ordered into court Jan. 2 on a charge of driving with an invalid driver's license.

Paper Firms Plead Innocent

Officials Answer Federal Charges Of Price Fixing

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Seven pulp and paper manufacturers and three of their officers pleaded innocent Friday in U.S. District Court here on charges involving price fixing conspiracy.

The government charges that the firms and officers conspired unlawfully to depress prices they paid to small Michigan loggers and wood dealers for pulpwood. All were released without bond. Trial is expected next year, probably in March.

Among the firms represented by counsel was the Menasha Wooden Ware Corp. of Menasha, Wis. Among those appearing as individuals were Edgar W. Habighorst of Oshkosh, Wis., a vice president of American Excelsior Corp. of Chicago, and Roman L. Suess, manager of a Menasha mill at Plainwell, Mich.

Lutheran Men Send Gifts to Service People

KIMBERLY — The Men's Club of Mount Calvary Lutheran Church has expanded its Christmas charity program this year by sending gifts to all parish members who are in the armed forces.

For many years the group has made it a practice of sending toys and clothing to an Apache Indian orphanage operated in Arizona by the Lutheran synod.

Members of the Ladies Aid have adopted two retarded women from the area who are patients at the Bethesda Lutheran Home at Watertown and remember them at Christmas and throughout the year with gifts.

Utility Workers Given Pay Hike

KAUKAUNA — Employees of the Electric and Water Utility have been granted a 3 per cent wage hike retroactive to Nov. 1, 1962.

Workers had asked for an increase of 10 per cent. Utility commission members approved a contract change granting four weeks paid vacation after 23 years. The old contract called for 25 years service before four weeks vacation was granted and the union had asked for this benefit after 20 years.

The commission also approved a 3 per cent increase for the superintendent of power and office manager.

Byrnes, the top Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee which will consider the Kennedy tax proposals next year said he was "sitting this one out" until such time as a definite tax program is forwarded to his committee.

"There is no question that reorganization, reduction and reform is essential in our tax structure, but the question is how it will be done," he continued, adding that the "spending level" must be taken into account.

Emphasizing that the country's revenue needs must be considered when tax revision is written next year, Byrnes commented that "there can be no meaningful reduction in taxes unless government spending is curbed."

"There is no use in reducing taxes if the national debt is to be further increased," he concluded.

Hope Satellite Will Gain Power For Radio Relay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists try new test efforts today in hopes the latest U.S. communications satellite—weak-voiced but in near-perfect orbit—will soak up enough energy from the sun to run its radio relay equipment.

The Relay satellite was lofted into orbit Thursday night by a Thor-Delta rocket fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

But low battery power in the 172-pound satellite cast doubt on whether it would be successful in speeding the day when space vehicles will provide an instant worldwide communications system.

The satellite was sent aloft to relay radio, telegraph, voice and television signals and extend the space communications knowledge gathered through operations of the now-stilled Telstar satellite.

Tests planned Friday were called off because of the power problem.

Formal Opening Planned for Marina

Conservation Commission Sets Ceremonies for May; Praises Support of Citizens

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state conservation department will formally open the new marina in High Cliff State Forest Park on the north shore of Lake Winnebago with ceremonies next May, the state conservation commission has decided.

"This will show what can be done in a reasonably short time given proper public support for a project," said Roman Koenings, state park superintendent, as he related plans for the next boating season at the new park at a meeting of the commission.

Koenings referred to the earliest backing of the state recreational development by a private association of citizens in the Fox River Valley region which reportedly has collected and donated to the state nearly a quarter of a million dollars for park improvements thus far.

The commission was informed that the state agency won't operate the boating service directly. The marina program will be in charge of a private person or group, to be chosen according to nominations of a committee of the citizens association, Koenings said.

There will be a fee charged for marina service, and the ordinary line of fuel and supplies will be offered to boaters and other visitors at the park.

The report on marina opening plans came as the commission authorized a minor change in a contract for the installation of electrical services.

KAUKAUNA — All officers of Valley Sheltered Workshop Inc. were re-elected at the seventh annual directors' meeting.

Officers include L. C. Smith, president; John Mitchell, vice president; Marvin Heiden, treasurer, and Mrs. Hazel Leedke, secretary. Directors named for a 3 year term were Mrs. Leedke, Smith, Heiden, Mitchell, Charles Ehke and Mrs. H. W. Miller.

Thirty-eight handicapped persons were provided employment and, it was announced the workshop continued its perfect safety record which totals six years without a lost-time accident.

Auditor Report

Total assets of the non-profit corporation amount to about $160,000, according to the report of the auditors. Many companies and individuals contributed money, material, equipment and labor to build the new building, but the workshop has been self-supporting for many years.

William C. Schroeder Jr., manager, reported a number of new jobs are being developed, but many more new jobs are needed from Fox Valley companies to provide work for additional severely handicapped persons. The shop is equipped to do many types of packaging, sorting, assembling, inspecting, labeling, slitter grinding, addressing and other similar work, noted the manager.

They called the Brown ambulance which took the driver to the hospital for treatment for shock.

Miss Berrens said she had been asleep at the time and only knew the accident happened near the Valley Fair Shopping Center. She said they had left Appleton about 1:15 a.m. for Menasha to pick up a relative of the driver.

She did not know how they happened to get from the accident scene to First Street which is several miles away.

Race Driver Claims Trophies Gone From Car

An amateur racing driver, O. N. Ellman, 209 S. State St., reported to Appleton police someone had stolen his brief case from his car in which were contained many of his racing trophies and plaques.

Ellman said his car was parked at 2001 N. Alvin St. Thursday night and the brief case was taken sometime between 9 p.m. and midnight.

In the case were two sets of contact lenses valued at $400, a family album and news clippings of his racing feats, a passport, his international racing license, 40 racing plaques which he received in various races, two Swiss watches, and several racing year books.

Four Sixth Graders Save Boy After He Falls Through Ice

MADISON (AP)—Four 11-year-old sixth graders from Marquette School here saved Donald Ringstad, 6, from drowning Thursday when he broke through thin ice on the Yahara River.

Donald was on his way home from school when he undertook an ice testing expedition. He broke through about 15 feet from shore into water four feet deep. The temperature was near zero.

The others, three girls and a boy, spotted Donald, locked arms to form a rescue chain on the ice and pulled the boy to shore.

Police Capt. George Schiro declared "If it hadn't been for them, we probably would have had our first drowning of the winter season."

The young rescuers took Donald to a home near the scene. His frozen clothes were removed and he was outfitted in dry attire. A doctor checked the boy, who had a slight cut on his chin.

Red Paper Launches Fault-Finding Section

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

MUNICH, Germany — The Soviet Government Newspaper Izvestia has launched a new fault-finding section, Radio Free Europe reports.

The section is designed, in its own words, to expose "bureaucrats, bribe-takers, those who pull the wool over people's eyes, those who turn out faulty goods, swindlers and parasites."

Readers are invited to contribute to the column by sending in "pointed observations about those guilty of scandalous behavior" and by "naming names."

This Izvestia, edited by Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, takes another step along the road toward brighter and more interesting journalism down which it has been leading the Soviet Press in the last year or two.

Comedian Plans To Close Club

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Poker-faced comedian Ben Blue says he'll follow the lead of restaurateur Mike Romanoff and close his super club.

Blue opened his club here five years ago. He said Thursday it will close next Sunday. Like Romanoff, he blamed in part the government's crackdown on expense accounts.

Romanoff said earlier that his plush restaurant will shut down Dec. 31 after a money-losing year.

Blue claimed he is having no trouble with creditors. "I just see the handwriting on the wall," he said.

Richard Chamberlain Owes Agency Money

LOS ANGELES (AP)—His former talent agency says Richard Chamberlain, star of television's "Dr. Kildare" series, owes it commissions.

MCA Inc. now out of the talent agency business, says Chamberlain owes it an unspecified amount of money under his contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. So too, the firm said, do several other stars, and Chamberlain's suit will be just the first of many.

German Actress Wins Contract Approval

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Christine Kaufmann, 17-year-old German actress who is actor Tony Curtis' current romance, won court approval Thursday of a contract with producer Harold Hecht.

It calls for $1,750 a week for a minimum of 10 weeks for making one film. There are options for six more films, with a salary graduating to $10,000 a week on the last.

The court ordered her to save 20 per cent of her gross earnings. Miss Kaufmann recently completed a film with Curtis.

Britain Plans Third Nuclear Submarine

LONDON (AP)—The Admiralty announced Thursday the placing of an order to build Britain's third nuclear submarine. The contract was with Vicker-Armstrong. The navy's first nuclear sub, HMS Dreadnought, is undergoing first sea trials. The second was laid down last January.

'Holiday on Ice' Dazzles Viewers With Smooth Green Bay Production

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A brand-new edition of Morris Chalfen's "Holiday on Ice" skated out of the band-box at Brown County Arena, Green Bay, Friday night, and dazzled the customers with a production as smooth and glittering as the ice on which it is performed.

All the sparkle and precision of this 18-year-old entertainment tradition is present in the 1963 touring company, with the added excitement of "new look" settings and a brace of European skating stars.

In a presentation dubbed "Spectacular" ensemble numbers and brilliant solo exhibitions, the work of Tommy Allen, Barbara Martin, Alice Quessy and Ray Balmer stands out as perhaps the quintessence of rhythmic and athletic skill.

Marc Antony

Allen's almost unbelievable form and control are shown to best advantage in the "Rhapsody for Strings" number, while Miss Martin and Miss Quessy provide the brightest moments in an elaborate, if somewhat over-simplified version of Tchaikovsky's "Sleeping Beauty" ballet.

Balmer, a champion in his own right and a native of Wisconsin, is grace personified, as Marc Antony in "Egyptian Fantasy," which concludes with the sort of pageantry the fans love — a galaxy of lovely maidens and sturdy youths gliding fearlessly among a formation of illuminated smudgepots.

Rosemarie and Robert Unger, who have joined the American touring company after several seasons with Holiday on Ice in Europe and South America, show an amazing "togetherness" as they dance to "Waltz at Maxim's" from Lerner and Loewe's "Gigi," and Hanna Walter, another European champion, displays ability and showmanship as the vamp of the Nile in the Egyptian number.

The Williams Family — Debbie, Pat, Robbie and Johnny — are with us again, and staunch "Holiday" enthusiasts were delighted to discover that the children are gaining in skill as well as stature.

Plenty of Humor

There's plenty of the traditional humor thrown into this edition, with Darlene (a skating girl) and Jinx (a skating chimp) earning a big hand, as does the kilt-clad Ted Deely with his Scottish "Hoot Mon" routine.

But for ingenuity it would be hard to beat the Maxwells. Billed as the "Fastest Act in the World," theirs is a gem of precise coordination. Timed to perfection and performed almost somnambulistically, it ends with a display of balancing difficult to top.

The entire production is paced with the expected swiftness, although the second half struck this viewer as somewhat tighter and more imaginative than the first — perhaps because the music (analogies to the durable Tchaikovsky) seems better adapted to the requirements of skaters.

"Holiday on Ice" will be repeated this evening at 8:30 and at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

As an all-too-brief vacation in that wondrous world of color, grace and total physical control that seems to exist only under the spotlights of an ice show, it can be heartily recommended.

Use Halloween Mask to Give Your Snowman a New Face

BY CAPPY DICK

The time-honored snow man is in for a change. Instead of being simply big balls of snow forming a head, body and squad legs with a carrot for a nose and lumps of coal for buttons, he now can have a face — and a grotesque one at that.

It's done by applying an old Halloween mask to the snow man's head after you have built him.

First, make the snow man in the regular way, rolling up a big snow ball for his legs, a slightly smaller one on top for his body and the smallest one on top of the second for his head.

Make the head of a size that your Halloween mask will fit. If the mask has no elastic cord, just press it into the snow and it will stay in place.

If you have an old straw hat that has been discarded, put it on the snow man's head. Small stones (or bits of coal, if available) may be pressed into the snow for buttons.

The appearance of legs can be given to the snow man by molding the bottom ball properly.

He may be given a vest to wear, if you have one that has long ago served its real purpose and has been discarded as useless. If this is done, drape the vest around the shoulders of the snow man, then mold snow arms as shown in the picture above.

Of course, the most effective and unusual part of the snow man will be his false face. This added touch will make your snow man a sure hit.

Freeze Persists In Southeastern United States

Young Donors UW Pupils Give Blood At Bloomobile Center

Rising Temperatures In Parts of Florida Permit Fruit Picking

Freezing weather persisted in parts of the South and Southeast today, but rising temperatures in parts of Florida hastened the picking of frozen fruit before it thaws and spoils.

The snows that buried parts of the Midwest and Northeast came to an end and major cities were digging out. Some rural areas are still isolated and highways blocked.

The nation generally was spanned by freezing weather, exactly one week away from the official beginning of winter.

Labor Crews Work

Labor crews worked feverishly in the central and northern orange and grapefruit orchards of Florida to salvage frozen fruit for juice and concentrate. Industry and state agriculture specialists still cannot estimate the damage to a bumper crop in Florida's worst freeze.

The temperature in Miami went to 44, but other normally sunny Florida points reported freezing weather. Tallahassee reported 24 and Jacksonville 29.

General Temperature

Generally, temperatures were below freezing in most of the South and Southeast. Atlanta reported 24, Birmingham 27, Charleston, S.C. 20, Chattanooga 16 and Asheville 14.

The American Sugar Cane League estimated the cold may have damaged the Louisiana sugar crop as much as $4.8 million. About 15 per cent of the crop was in the field Thursday when the temperature plummeted to 12.

Work crews in Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and New York struggled to bring conditions back to normal after more than a week of blinding snows. Some schools were still closed and snow drifts snowfall of the season was too much for three apparent skiing enthusiasts at Oshkosh State College to resist last Friday night going down High Avenue at 1:50 a.m. today — two of them on skis being towed by the third in day morning.

Young Donors

MENASHA — Students from the day. Taylor Brown, Red Cross University of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Center, will join Neenah and Menasha residents at the Red Cross Bloodmobile center at the show them around and acquaint them with simple procedures.

Permission slips for students between 18 and 21 and not married had been issued to 14 students by Friday afternoon. Rides will be available for any students requiring them.

The Neenah and Menasha Red Cross chapters have extended invitations to high school seniors in both cities to come to the bloodmobile on Monday and Tuesday.

Floor Workers

Floor workers at the bloodmobile Monday will be Mmes. William Beson, Viler Dennis, Norbert Braun, Anthony Thelen Carl Nebel, Alfred Baecher, William Platt, D. J. Bauman and Carl Florslund. Effective Soviet Drive Seen Soon

BY VICTOR RIESEL
LOS ANGELES — Moscow's account executive in charge of Latin America is Vicente Lombardo Toledano, a labor leader whose specialty is transmitting orders from the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City to Communist cadres, provoking riots, stirring strikes, and coordinating Cuban infiltration into Central and South America.

Riesel

His territory, though he is based in Mexico City, runs from the Rio Grande to the Falkland Islands. He is a busy international Soviet hand — doubling as regional agent for the Russian global sabotage network known as the World Federation of Trade Unions and as leader of the Mexican Popular Socialist Party. This is strictly a Communist operation.

On Nov. 16, Lombardo Toledano, an old enemy of mine, signaled the Latin American Communist propaganda apparatus to launch a continent-long attack of the U.S. There is no doubt, this will be rolling soon.

Truly Expert
It will be effective. For there are few men inside Latin America who know Communist tactics well enough to counter Toledano's maneuvers.

There is, however, at least one who is truly expert. I take particular pride in knowing him — for he is a newsman, an editor, a crusader, willing to stand up. He is Carlos Lacerda, governor of the Brazilian State of Guanabara, in which is the city of Rio de Janeiro. Because he has fought the Communist apparat he has in the past been slugged, arrested and imprisoned by highly-placed devotees of the Soviets.

I asked Gov. Lacerda to brief me on developments in Brazil — which I believe now must vulnerable to the Soviets and to the propaganda offensive of such operatives as Lombardo Toledano.

I heard from Carlos Lacerda. He hit hard, as is so characteristic of him. What he reports is grim. For, if Brazil goes Castro, there will be a huge trap door in the Western Hemisphere through which both continents can fall.

"The Khrushlin," said Lacerda, "has brought the techniques of Communist infiltration up to date. And Brazil is certainly the most important proving ground for their new strategy in Latin America."

Gov. Lacerda then made charges so serious they require, it seems to me, immediate international investigation.

'Long Gone'
"Long gone are the days," asserted the Governor, "when people thought Communist infiltration should start from the bottom, through the masses. The Russians quickly realized that indoctrination of the masses was too slow."

"Today, and Brazil is a living example, they concentrate their efforts to convert the people in government, the sophisticated elite, the armed forces, the ruling classes."

"By making friends and influencing influential people, they promote difficulties and use them. Knowing that they are a minority, they take advantage of their own weakness and made their small minority the most vociferous group in the country. They believe — as Marx did — in the explosive power of ideas, rather than just 'economic factors.'"

The Communists, said Lacerda,

Order Youth Placed In Mental Hospital, Threatened Kennedy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—An Alabama youth accused of making threats against President Kennedy has been ordered to a federal mental institution.

The youth, James B. Hubka, 20, of Ensley, was termed mentally incompetent to stand trial by a psychiatrist, Dr. Howard B. Stevens, and a federal judge ordered him sent to an institution at Springfield, Mo.

Hubka, arrested several weeks ago by Secret Service agents, was charged with sending a letter to a high Justice Department official which allegedly contained a threat against the life of President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

New Stamp Will Mark Lincoln Proclamation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 5-cent postage stamp commemorating Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation will be issued next year, the Post Office Department announced Thursday.

The department said the stamp will be issued in mid-February as part of the centennial observance of the proclamation.

The proclamation was issued Jan. 1, 1863, bringing freedom to three million Negro slaves.

act on the theory that it is better to have "an officer on your side than 50 soldiers, particularly if the officer controls the ammunition." They hold an influence in Brazil, today, he warned, which "the small amount of Communist votes cast in all elections here would never indicate."

"They spread out corruption," revealed Lacerda, "then use it to demoralize and control. They prefer to provide advisers and assistants to all ministers than to have one minister of their own."

Ruling Classes
"It is the Communist anonymous tactic."

"As a result of the Communist success in infiltrating the ruling classes, the greatest Communist menace in Brazil does not spread from the drought-stricken North and Northeast, where poverty is concentrated, but from the fertile and prosperous South, where influential people in some of the comparatively richest states in Brazil, lean towards the Reds."

"It also accounts for the fact that a larger proportion of Communists can be found in the Copacabana section than in the slums of Rio."

"If the Communists can control Brazil by proxy, they will control South America."

"With Africa integrating in a federation and adhering to the West, with Europe finding new strength, with Asia in a relative balance of power, and China stuck, the great hope of Russia lies in South America, with Brazil as its most vulnerable point."

"The effort already has started in the attempt to 'neutralize' Brazil, which is only a step to make it enter the Russian orbit."

"The great majority of the Brazilian people is against Communism, but we cannot say the same of the influential people in Brazil. The Communist effort concentrates on the latter much more than on the masses."

And that really tells the story!

1962 Saw Steel Men Changing Methods

Thwarted Price Rise Attempt
Turned Efforts to Improvements

BY BOB VOELKER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An old way of life in the steel industry passed from the scene in 1962. A new era—already born—burst into maturity.

Steelmen said they were being dragged to economic doom by dwindling profits, mounting costs and fierce competition.

They sought to apply the standard remedy—a price increase.

For the first time it didn't work. It was crushed by government pressure and failure of some big firms to go along.

With do-or-die determination, producers turned to research and modernization for salvation. The only hope, they said, lay in technological advances—new ways to produce steel cheaper.

Money for new plants and equipment started flowing in increasingly bigger chunks. The price tag for years to come will be staggering, but the companies aren't flinching. They're going all the way.

Capital investments in 1961 totaled $1.13 billion. Investments ran relatively light in the early part of 1962 before the clash over prices. Then the tempo increased to push the year's figure to $1.17 billion. Forecasts indicate the 1963 outlay will climb to $1.32 billion.

Improvement Capital

A significant point: The nation already has all the steelmaking capacity it needs; thus, a sizable portion of investment money is aimed solely at improving efficiency and lowering costs.

Among other things, steelmen are arming themselves with two especially powerful production weapons—computer controls and the new oxygen process which in itself speeds production as much as eight-fold.

The end is years away, but the ultimate goal is clear: Push-but-ton steel mills.

Dismal Year

Regarding profits, 1962 was a dismal year for the steel companies. Four producers, including the top three, reduced dividends. A host of other firms suffered earnings losses.

To Your Good Health

Portion of the Cornea Supplied by Eye Bank

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you please give me some information about an "eye bank"? Or is there any such thing?

I think blood banks are wonderful so people can have transfusions at once when they need them. I have heard that surgeons can transplant the human eye and prevent blindness.

Dr. Molner

I told our family physician that if I knew for certain that "willing my eyes" would keep someone from going blind, I believe I quarter dividend from 75 to 50 cents, the first reduction by the industry leader since the depths of the depression in the 1930s.

U.S. Steel earnings for the first nine months amounted to $122.8 million, or $1.92 per common share, compared with $142.7 million, or $2.29 a share, in the same period of 1961.

Dividend cuts also were made by second-ranked Bethlehem Steel Corp. and third-place Republic Steel Corp.

Western Producers

Another major development in 1962 was the revelation that western producers were ready to compete on an equal footing with eastern mills. Two things pointed to this.

First came the refusal of Inland Steel Co. of Chicago and Kaiser Steel Corp. of California to go along with eastern producers in their abortive attempt to push through the $6 a ton price increase. The "no" decisions of Kaiser and Inland settled the matter.

Then, in October, Kaiser slashed its prices an average of $12 a ton, wiping out the historic east-west price differential.

The more quickly a cornea can be used, the better. Therefore eyes that are given to the "bank" would be willing to do so. — Mrs. L. C.

Yes, there are such things as eye banks. They aren't exactly like blood banks, bone banks or other such banks, but they do, indeed, prevent a great deal of blindness. Or more correctly, they restore lost sight to people with a certain type of defect.

If you visited an "eye bank" you would probably be disappointed, because there isn't much to see. We can't store eyes in large quantities as we do blood and some other items.

Sight Restored

However, you most certainly would not be disappointed to see a patient who has had sight restored because of an eye bank.

The eye is not "transplanted" in the sense of exchanging the entire organ. That is not yet possible. Rather, a portion of the cornea, or outer covering of the eyeball, the window, is used.

Many a person has become blind because the cornea either is cloudy, or because it has been burned or badly scarred, although leaving the parts of the eye behind intact.

It is possible to remove the old cornea and apply a new one. But the only source of a cornea is from another eye.

Unlike cases requiring blood transfusions, these eye operations need not be done on an emergency basis, immediately. They can be done next week or next month, or even next year. The patient can wait — and often has to wait until another eye is available.

Thus an "eye bank" really consists mainly of a list of people who need corneas, and a list of people who are willing that their eyes be used for this generous purpose.

The more quickly a cornea can be used, the better. Therefore eyes that are given to the "bank" are removed promptly, and carefully kept refrigerated until actually used. The eyes don't stay in the "bank" more than a day or two. Sometimes it is a matter only of hours. But in this way people regain the precious gift of sight.

Arrangements to leave eyes for this purpose must be made beforehand. An eye surgeon or the eye department of a hospital will be glad to tell you how to fill out a simple form that is required. (There may be minor differences in some states.)

Girl Scared

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl of 14 and don't have a mother to ask about this. I notice a white, sticky substance on my underwear. This has me really scared. — E. J.

First of all I'd stop being scared. Second, I'd go to the doctor, because this sort of trouble, more a nuisance than a danger, doesn't tend to cure itself. It may need some help. There are several possibilities, but the most common (and it is far more frequent than you realize) is leucorrhea, a discharge often caused by minor irritation. Trichomonas vaginalis is the commonest cause.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, who has very fine hair, shakes baby powder through it every night. I admit that the following day her hair looks full and lovely. But is this daily practice harmful in any way? — Mrs. C. T.

Baby powder is inert and non-irritating, and I doubt that it would be harmful.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. (Copyright 1962)

Chilton Tigers, Five Other Teams Lead 'Eastern' League

New Holstein, Falls '5' Upset; Six Quints Are 3-1 in Cage Loop

EASTERN WIS. CONFERENCE
Chilton	3	1
Elkhart Lake	3	1
New Holstein	3	1
Plymouth	3	1
Sheb. Falls	3	1

Friday's Results:
Chilton 55, Kiel 41.
Elkhart Lake 74, Brillion 44.
Plymouth 79, Sheboygan Falls 77.
Oostburg 53, Kohler 50.
Valders 42, New Holstein 52.

CHILTON — The Chilton Tigers moved into a fantastic six-way tie for first place in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference standings with a 55-41 win over Kiel at Kiel Friday night.

Six of the league's 10 teams hold 3-1 marks. The multiple deadlock resulted when the two previously undefeated quintets, New Holstein and Sheboygan Falls, were knocked off by Valders and Plymouth.

At Kiel, the Tigers took the lead midway in the second quarter and never trailed thereafter. Jim Wagner paved the way to victory scoring 18 points while leading a balanced attack that had no scorer under eight points. For Kiel, the setback was the third of the season in league play.

Tigers Trail
The Tigers trailed 9-8 after an uneven first period. Throwing up a tight zone defense, the Raiders gave Chilton the outside but the Tigers failed to connect on a raft of medium range shots. The only Chilton scoring from the field during the first period was Jim Vogel's two buckets.

At the quarter, Al Whitby replaced Tom Selk in the Tiger lineup and waged a personal shooting duel with Kiel's Rich Platz. Each hit three straight buckets.

When Platz cooled off—after five field goals in the quarter—the Tigers forged into the lead, 25-22, by outscoring Kiel 17-13 in the second period.

The Raiders came out in a man-for-man defense in the second half and it suited the Tigers. They increased their advantage to 11 points, 39-28, before the third quarter ended.

A brief relapse in the final frame enabled Kiel to cut the Tiger margin to seven points on three occasions. A late Tiger surge provided the final 14-point margin.

Wagner's game-topping total came on seven field goals and four gift shots. Al Whitby added 11 points for Chilton and Vogel had 10.

Platz led Kiel with 15 points, 10 of them in the second period. Elsewhere in the league, New Holstein was stunned 62-52 at Valders. The Vikings took a 15-7 lead at the quarter and never trailed although the Huskies moved to within two points in the fourth period. Keith Lippert and Cliff Brennan had 21 and 18, respectively, for Valders and Dave Lautenschlager's 13 topped New Holstein.

Another undefeated team, Sheboygan Falls, suffered its first loss, 79-77, at Plymouth. The winners led 45-35 at the half but had to break a 75-all tie late in the game to win. Mark Rhode scored 24 for the victors and Mike Mauer had 21 for Falls.

Oostburg broke a 50-50 tie in the final 10 seconds and handed Kohler its fourth straight loss, 53-50. It was Oostburg's first win. Dave Hilbelink paced the winners with 18 and Paul Maki scored 16 for Kohler.

Despite a dazzling field goal shooting exhibition by Brillion's Jim Ross, the Lions were handed their fourth straight Eastern Wisconsin Conference setback, 76-64, at the hands of Elkhart Lake at Brillion Friday night.

Ross fired through 12 field goals in 25 attempts before leaving the game on fouls. He added a free throw to wind up the evening with 25 points.

The sharp-shooting sophomore triggered a Brillion rally that came too late. Trailing by 24 points, 66-42, in the final period, the Lions cut the victory margin to a respectable 12 points with a 22-point barrage in the last eight minutes while holding Elkhart Lake to 10.

Lose Four Men
Before the contest ended, the Lions lost the services of three starters via the foul route and a fourth, John Lindner, their talented sophomore center, did not suit up. He suffered an ankle injury.

New London Winter Bus Policy Set

School Official Instructs Students, Drivers on Procedure

NEW LONDON — The policy for school buses during the winter months has been announced by Superintendent of Schools Lloyd Qualley.

Qualley, in a notice to students, parents and bus drivers, noted that buses will attempt to make all routes whenever possible and parts of routes if side roads are closed and main roads are open. "On mornings when we feel it is impossible to make the entire route, and the main routes can be made, announcements will be made over Appleton and Shawano radio stations before 7:30 a.m.," Qualley said.

Asks Cooperation
Qualley asked parents to cooperate by having students ready ahead of time and to be patient in case of delays.

The district operates 19 buses. The winter emergency plan lists routes for all but two buses in case of poor weather conditions.

Bus No. 2, driven by Bernard Lettman and bus No. 23, driven by Ferd Speigelberg, will not run because the buses have most of their routes over secondary roads. All other buses will attempt to make their routes on the days school is in session, although the buses will stick to main roads, usually state and county trunks.

"Whenever we announce that buses will make only the 'Main Road Routes' each bus driver will pick up only those students that he can transport in the evening. He will not make any attempt to meet another bus and exchange students," Qualley pointed out.

Students are normally transported to Washington High School, McKinley, Lincoln, Readfield and Northport elementary schools. Some students are also transported to the Dale, Clover Blossom, Cedar Dell and Golden Hill schools.

Second Ave., Wausau, who was traveling north, stated that he had to turn out for an oncoming car that was passing another vehicle. Barremans lost control of the truck and it went off the highway and broke off a power pole and a fire sign.

Formal Opening Planned for Marina

Delay Action On Purchase Of Lake Site

MADISON — Because there were reports of some local objections to the plan, the state conservation commission has delayed action on the authorization of an access site purchase and development on the shore of Lake Winnebago in the Town of Vinland about six miles north of Oshkosh.

Several commissioners said they want to make a personal inspection of the location before granting about $21,000 in funds for the purchase of land, the construction of a parking lot and the building of an access road. Conservation department officials said the area would provide winter ice fishing access as well as summer boating opportunities in a heavily populated area surrounding the largest body of water within the state.

Conservation Commission Sets Ceremonies for May; Praises Support of Citizens

MADISON — The state conservation department will formally open the new marina in High Cliff State Forest Park on the north shore of Lake Winnebago with ceremonies next May, the state conservation commission has decided.

"This will show what can be done in a reasonably short time given proper public support for a project," said Roman Koenings, state park superintendent, as he related plans for the next boating season at the new park at a meeting of the commission.

Koenings referred to the earnest backing of the state recreational development by a private association of citizens in the Fox River Valley region which reportedly has collected and donated to the state nearly a quarter of a million dollars for park improvements thus far.

The commission was informed that the state agency won't operate the boating service directly.

The marina program will be in charge of a private person or group, to be chosen according to nominations of a committee of the citizens association, Koenings said.

There will be a fee charged for marina service, and the ordinary line of fuel and supplies will be

$300,000 Land Purchase Plan For Calumet County Okayed

5,800 Acres of Hunting, Fishing Area Will be Obtained by State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — State conservation commissioners have reacted cautiously to a plan for a huge public fishing grounds acquisition program in Northeastern Wisconsin, but have authorized the Conservation Department's men to proceed with the purchasing of new public recreational preserves in Oconto and Calumet Counties that will be easily accessible to Fox River Valley residents.

The commission at its session in Poynette Friday decided that it wanted to check further before approving a $300,000 blueprint, which would cost nearly $2,000,000 for fish habitat lands including stream and lake frontage in 10 counties ranging from Shawano to Florence.

Start Acquisitions

But it authorized the start of acquisitions of about 700 acres along the Green Bay shore-line in Oconto County that may cost about $166,000 and approved a preliminary project outline for the long-promoted Brillion marsh wildlife area in Calumet County.

The Calumet County plan contemplates the purchase of about 5,800 acres of land for upland game management, fur-bearing animals and public hunting, at a cost of more than $300,000 over a period of years.

A secondary pattern of lands would be acquired later, officials indicated, to meet the hunting pressure from the near-by urban areas along the Fox River from Winnebago County to Green Bay.

The state game division said the local governments in the district and the county board have indicated approval of the project, and that as specific land acquisitions are proposed, their direct endorsement will be solicited.

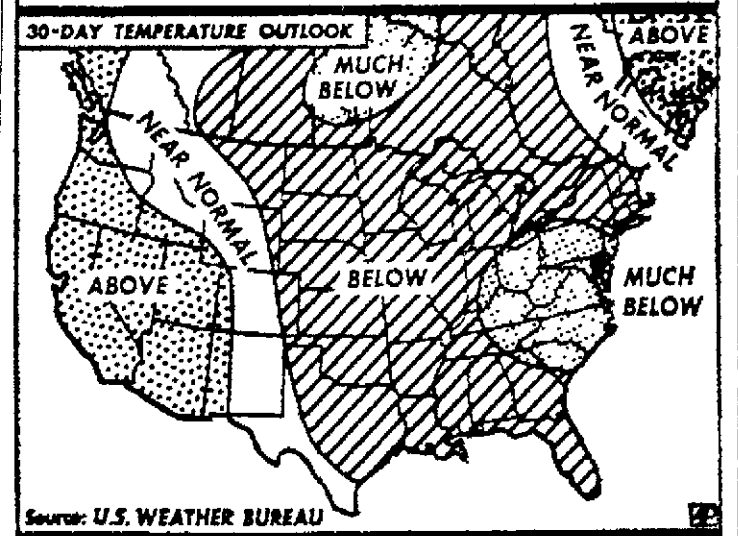

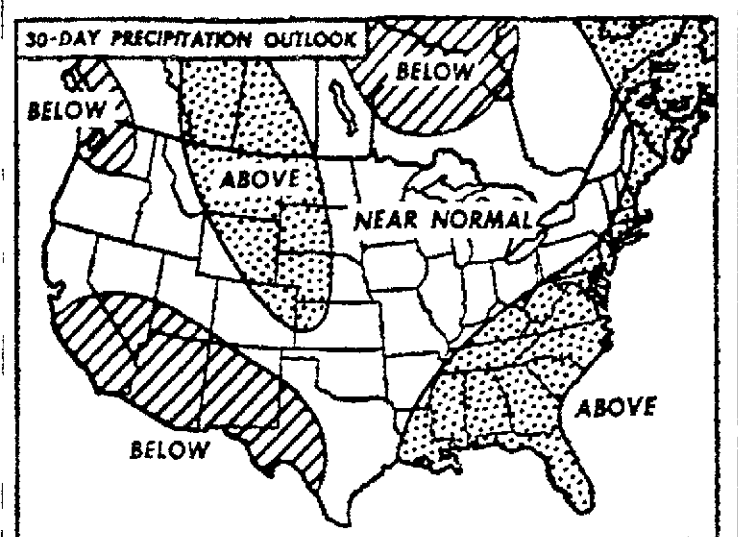

Duck Hunting

The land buying along the West Green Bay shore will involve scattered parcels of wetlands and some bay frontage. One of the parcels was described as a traditional duck hunting site known as "Rush Point."

The commission also approved the purchase of 159 acres along the South Branch of the Oconto River in Oconto County which was described as a key purchase to provide public control of about 3,000 feet of stream frontage.
